

Equality, Justice and Specific Processing & Learning Differences / Neurodiversity

23rd November 2009, 9.30am – 4.30 pm
The Resource Centre, 356 Holloway Road, London, N7 6PA

A one day conference aimed at professionals working in the Courts, Police, Legal Professions and the Probation Service or anyone with an interest in the Justice System and Neurodiverse adults. It will focus on a range of equality and justice issues and ask important questions:

- Are professionals in the Justice System aware of the impact of Dyspraxia, Attention Deficit Disorder, Dyslexia, Dyscalculia and Asperger Syndrome?
- Does equality legislation deliver justice to people with ND/SpLDs?
- What provisions should be made for tribunal and court hearings?
- How do we go about obtaining justice and equality in work and everyday life?

We are pleased to welcome Justice Minister Maria Eagle to introduce the day. Keynote speeches include:

- ◆ An introduction to accommodating Neurodiversity/SpLDs in the context of the Criminal Justice System
Jo Todd, Director of Key4Learning
- ◆ The Courts: fair representation for people with Dyspraxia, Dyslexia, ADHD and Asperger's Syndrome. John Mackenzie, Solicitor specialising in employment and disability law
- ◆ The Police: reasonable adjustments for adults with neurodiverse conditions Specialist in policing and ADHD
- ◆ Launch of the GOOD PRACTICE GUIDE FOR JUSTICE PROFESSIONALS Access to Justice Update: Questions and Answers
Melanie Jameson, DANDA Special Adviser and Dyslexia Consultant

The day will include an opportunity to attend a choice of two workshops by renowned speakers: the Head of HMCS Equality Unit on Diversity in the Courts, author Bob Turney on After Crime and Punishment: Dyslexic ex-offender to Probation Officer and Jo Todd will lead a workshop on Young Offenders and Neurodiversity

Delegate Fee: £125 to include a choice of 2 workshops, refreshments, lunch and exhibition of resources. Please note: we are pleased to offer DANDA and/or Dyspraxia Foundation members a reduced fee of £95
